NAHI GRANTS PROGRAM

WHY NAHI?

WHY NOW?

WHY NOW?

It's the right time.

- First Voluntary Program since 2016
- Record earnings over the last couple of years
- FHLBank System at 100 initiative

It's the right thing.

- Mission alignment
- Provide additional funding to our members to support their communities
- Address challenges faced in our regulatory programs

WHY NAHI?

It's the right time.

- For over 30 years, Native American projects have not actively participated in our traditional programs
- Roundtable discussion in October of 2022 hosted in Oklahoma City, OK focused on funding challenges for Native Americans

It's the right thing.

- In our district, we have the highest percentage of the population of Native Americans
- Nearly 50 tribes in our district including the largest tribe in the nation
- Great need in the Native American community for support

WHY NAHI?

High Poverty & Low Incomes

- One-third (32%) of Native households on tribal lands live in poverty, compared to 18% of households nationwide
- Median household income is 33% less than the national median income

Lack of Infrastructure & High Development Costs

- Nearly half of tribal governments indicate development costs are a very serious barrier to building affordable homes
- Infrastructure for sewage, gas, electricity, and highways can be limited on tribal lands. 70% of tribal governments identify infrastructure costs as a major barrier

WHY NAHI?

Overcrowding & Poor Living Conditions

Families in tribal lands:

- 16% live in overcrowded conditions compared to 2.2% nationally
- 34% have one or more physical issue compared to 7% nationally
- Almost 5 times more likely to live in poor housing conditions compared to general populations
- Nearly 4 times more likely to live in a home without a sink, range, or refrigerator
- 1,200 times more likely to live in homes with heating issues*

WHERE DID IT START?

We listened.

- Discussions with our Affordable Housing Advisory Council and Board of Directors
- FHLBank System at 100 Roundtables
 - FHLBank support for Native American communities
 - Oklahoma City, OK (from the tribal perspective)
 - Washington, D.C. (from the CDFI and nonprofit perspective)

WHAT WE HEARD

Quotes we heard at the FHLBank System at 100 roundtable

“The biggest barrier we have... is the regulatory burden.”

“Prescribe something specifically for Tribes, so they don’t have such a hard time competing to get these necessary funds.”

“Larger amounts. We need to look at larger amounts that’s available to help meet those needs.”

“Make it administratively accessible...all these regs are written, great intention, but in the end, it negates the intent of the program itself because it’s not accessible.”

“Let’s not create another layer of complexity for the Tribes.”

“It’s not just putting more resources into tribal communities. It’s actively listening and collaborating with those parties.”

“We (Tribes) are capable and already have programs.”

“Learn more about what the specific needs are in those communities.”

WHERE DID IT START?

We responded.

We created NAHI and designed the program:

- Low barrier
- Letting Tribes do what they do best
- Partnership and collaboration
- Remove complexity
- Sensitive to the unique needs
- Larger amounts
